INTRODUCTION.

For several years the University of Illinois Library has been giving attention to the collection of municipal reports and documents and other material relating to municipal government, for the use of students, city officials, and others in connection with the bureau of municipal research. This bulletin has been prepared in order to call attention to the general character and scope of this class of material now in the University Library, for the double purpose of making the present collections more widely available for use and also of securing the assistance of public officials and others in adding to the collections, especially by official reports and documents.

The bulletin includes a general report on municipal documents, a list of periodicals on municipal affairs, and a list of books and pamphlets on municipal government in Illinois. The first two reports were prepared by Mabel L. Conat, A. B., B. L. S. in March, 1915 and later revised; and the third report has been prepared by Marian Leatherman, A. B., B. L. S.—both members of the University Library staff.

MUNICIPAL DOCUMENTS

MABEL L. CONAT, A. B., B. L. S.

In gathering the statistics for this report, only those documents were regarded as municipal which had been issued by the local government or by some official governing agency having direct jurisdiction over some department of local public work, altho somewhat independent of the local government. These include state boards administering special phases of the work of the municipality, as, for example, police boards in some cities: and also include park and school boards, etc., which are in some cases independent of the city government.

The endeavor has been to furnish data on the following topics:

1. The total number of municipal documents in the library.

2. The number of municipalities in the United States and in foreign countries from which the Library has received municipal documents, analyzed to show the number of municipalities in each state of the United States, and the number of municipalities in each foreign country, from which municipal documents have been received.

3. The number of municipalities from which certain classes of documents (i. e. health board reports, etc.) have been received and the number of documents in each class.

4. Noteworthy sets of documents, continuous collections, etc.

A considerable proportion of the municipal documents are in the collection of the Bureau of Municipal Research, in Lincoln Hall. The Library School has a collection of library reports and bulletins. Some classes of documents are in the main library, and some documents are located in some of the department libraries, such as the history and political science and landscape gardening libraries.

General Summary

Municipal documents have been received from the following number of municipalities in the United States and in foreign countries.

	No. of municipalities	No. of volumes	No. of pamphlets
United States	1050	4930	7986
Foreign	196	1486	2354
Total	1246	6416	10340

From a large number of these municipalities, the only documents that have been received are school or library publications. Of the number of these municipalities it has been thought advisable to make a separate note:

	No. of municipalities	No. of volumes	No. of pamphlets
United States	795	290	2025
Foreign	91	71	733
Total	886	361	2758

With the additions received since March, 1915, the total number of volumes in January, 1917, is about 8,000, and the total number of pamphlets about 12,000; or excluding school and library publications about 6,000 volumes and over 6,000 pamphlets.

Municipal documents have been received from the municipalities of the various states as follows:

From 127 counties in 21 states, 80 volumes and 420 pamphlets, in January, 1917.

City plans and reports on city planning hold a somewhat new and important place in the municipal documents collection. The University Library has received reports or plans from the city planning or civic improvement commissions or boards of the following cities in the United States: Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Hartford (Conn.), Jersey City, Milwaukee, Newark (N. J.), Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Salem (Mass), and Seattle. There are in the University collection city plans[1] for the following cities in the United States.

1. Includes reports of individuals, associations and commissions presenting plans, not only for the improvement of the city as a whole, but also for the improvement of specific parts of the city, as river fronts, park systems, etc. Does not include periodical articles, nor discussions of city plans given in the general annual reports of some cities.

In the University collection are also city plans for the following foreign cities: Berlin, Germany, Canberra, Australia (the proposed capital of Australia), and Delhi, India.

City Playground commission and association reports form a somewhat novel and interesting part of the municipal documents collection. Many of these city playground reports are still incorporated in other city reports, as school and park department reports, but in a number of cities, separate commissions have been formed which issue their reports separately. In many cities, which do not as yet have municipally supported playground commissions, there are playground associations which while privately supported, or supported by both municipal and private funds, administer the playground work of the city. In listing the cities from which the University Library has received reports of playground commissions and associations, the reports of privately supported associations are included as well as those of the municipally supported commissions. Only the reports which were issued separately are listed. The University Library has received reports of city playground commissions, associations or committees from the following cities:—

PERIODICAL PUBLICATIONS ON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

MABEL L. CONAT, A. B., B. L. S.

After a careful study of the classifications of municipal periodicals already evolved—namely, those of C. C. Williamson (National Municipal Review, July 1912, 1:406-10); W. B. Munro (The government of American cities, 1912. p. 358-85); W. B. Howland (Conference for good city government 1909. 17:12-16); C. R. Woodruff (Library Journal 1911. 36:183-84); and of J. B. Kaiser (Law, legislative and municipal reference libraries 1914. p. 297-305), it was finally decided to follow, in a large degree at least, the last mentioned. A satisfactory classification is extremely difficult to make, because of the tendency of periodicals to overlap in purpose and to include subject matter not distinctly within their prescribed fields. The classification is based upon the scope of the periodicals: National, including those of a specialized as well as those of a general character; state; local, including publications issued officially by the city, and those published as the organs of private organizations. Only those periodicals are included which are issued oftener than annually. Periodicals which often touch upon, but are not primarily concerned with municipal problems are not included.

Monthly Bulletin, Toronto Civic Guild. v. 1, no. 7; v. 3, no. 6; Feb. 1912; June 1914.

Publications of Chambers of Commerce, Commercial Clubs, etc.

Under this head might be listed periodicals published by local boards of trade, chambers of commerce, industrial bureaus, etc.; and in order to present a comprehensive list of periodicals on municipal affairs, these commercial publications should be included as they are often concerned with municipal as well as with commercial affairs. There are, in the University collection, fifty-eight such periodicals representing fifty-six cities.

There might be included also, certain periodicals which often deal with, but are not primarily concerned with, municipal problems. In this latter class would fall such periodicals as: The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, American Political Science Review, Good Government, Good Roads, American Civic Association Bulletin, Illuminating Engineer, Survey, and the like.

Illinois Newspapers

The University Library has a large collection of Illinois newspapers, and receives currently about 140 papers from Illinois cities and towns as shown in the list below. These papers contain reports of public authorities, such as county commissioners, city councils and other officials; and in many places, especially in commission governed cities, publish the official reports of such authorities, which often are not printed in any other form. The newspapers also contain other articles and items on local and municipal public affairs. The papers are listed alphabetically by the cities or towns in which they are published.

BOOKS AND PAMPHLETS

RELATING TO

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT IN ILLINOIS

MARIAN LEATHERMAN, A. B., B. L. S.

The following list is presented as a supplement to Miss Conat's report on Municipal Documents in the University of Illinois Library. It includes references to bibliographies and a number of general works dealing with local government in Illinois, and official reports and other publications relating to local government and public affairs in the counties and cities of Illinois.

No attempt has been made to make the list a complete bibliography of works relating to the local communities in the state, nor even to cover the whole field of local and municipal government. Some important groups of material have been omitted entirely,—such as city directories, school and library reports, and publications relating to Chicago. Local histories have not been listed in detail, except those which give special attention to municipal affairs; and references to articles in periodical publications have been given only in a few cases of special importance.

It is hoped that the list will indicate the scope and character of the official documents and other publications relating to municipal government in Illinois which are now available in the University Library.

ATLASES AND HISTORIES

The University Library contains most of the standard atlases and histories of the counties of Illinois, which are listed in Solon J. Buck's Bibliography of Travel and Description in Illinois, etc. Many county histories deal with municipal and county governments; and the county atlases include maps of the townships, cities, and villages in the several counties.
